

Molotov on Way Back to His Old Post

MOSCOW (UPI) —Former Premier and Foreign Minister V.M. Molotov, who returned here in seeming disgrace eight weeks ago is on his way back to his old diplomatic post in Vienna, the Soviet Foreign Ministry said today.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman indicated that Molotov and his wife left for Vienna during the weekend. He is to resume his duties as a member of the Soviet delegation to the International Atomic Energy Authority, the spokesman said.

Molotov returned to Moscow Nov. 12 amidst a flurry of rumors —which were never confirmed—that he had been expelled from the Communist party and relieved of his post as second in command of the Soviet delegation in Vienna.

The Foreign Ministry official today declined to give any indication of Molotov's party status.

Lumps in Seat Were Weapons

The lumps in Mrs. Paul Butler's car seat Sunday evening ended up in the police evidence locker.

Mrs. Butler, 2627 McCann Road, attended evening services at Our Lady of Solitude Catholic Church, Alejo Road and South Belardo Road. After church, when she climbed into her car to drive home, Mrs. Butler noticed the car seat had sharp lumps on it.

The lumps were a chrome-plated .25 calibre automatic pistol, and a Colt revolver, complete with holster. Someone apparently tossed the excess hardware through the car window, police observed.

PROSPECTOR perched on a rock indicates how small vehicles can now be used to reach into the rough country.

Famous Author Defends Off-Highway Vehicles

A noted author jumped to the defense of four-wheel drive off-highway vehicles used to traverse the remote desert areas of Riverside County.

The vehicles and their users have been criticized as threats to beautification by the Desert Protective Council.

In a letter to the Riverside County Board of Supervisors today, Erle Stanley Gardner of Rancho del Paisano in Temecula, urged that no legislation be passed against use of "relatively low-powered, air-cooled motors to enable people to get more enjoyment out of public playgrounds."

Gardner, who reported he has no financial interest in any of the various companies manufacturing the vehicles, pointed out that they are effectively used by photographers, rock-hounds and jeepsters, who are "a tolerant group completely occupied with their own problems and largely devoting their energies to an educational campaign to get their members to cut out the top and bottom of all tin cans, flatten them and put them in cartons and bring them home for disposal."

CALIFORNIA IN SUPREME COURT

Last Fight for Water Launched Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — California Attorney General Stanley Mosk, who was to be followed today launched a last-ditch fight in the Supreme Court to prevent any reduction in California's share of Colorado River water.

Mosk opened oral arguments in what might be the final clash in a bitter 10-year legal battle between California and Arizona over division of the river waters.

by Special Assistant Attorney General Northcutt Ely, took exception to a proposed court decree prepared by Special Master Simon H. Rifkind.

The Rifkind report, prepared by the New York attorney in 1960, proposes that 7.5 million acre-feet of Colorado River water be allocated to give California 4.4 million acre-feet.

Arizona, for whom adoption of the Rifkind report by the court would be a victory, would receive 2.8 million acre-feet of Colorado River mainstream water. Nevada would receive 300,000 acre-feet. But California contends that it would actually receive only 3.8 million acre-feet at best as water supplies dwindle through increased use by future projects.

GROWING WITH PALM SPRINGS

...featuring recent construction in our area

Newcomers to our town find it almost unbelievable that, at last count, there were fifteen golf courses in the immediate area! These include O'Donnell, San Jacinto, Palm Springs Municipal, Riviera, Tamarisk, Thunderbird, Shadow Mountain, Eldorado, Indian Wells, La Quinta, Cochran, Westward Ho, Palm City, and Bermuda Dunes.

These world-famous courses are now to be joined by the Canyon Country Club, with not one but two 18-hole courses, seeded on the alluvial fan of Palm Canyon. Six artificial lakes and a waterfall will stud the first course. One newspaper reported that the club will employ skin divers to retrieve errant balls. (De Anza should have lived to see this!) Interest Rates Up In Desert

Meeting an interest increase just announced by commercial banks, savings and loan firms of the desert area have announced a parallel advance in their interest payments.

William H. Smith, president of the Coachella Valley Savings and Loan Association, Saturday announced that interest on all types of savings will earn interest at the rate of 4.6 per cent, effective as of Jan. 1 on all deposits received or mailed before Jan. 10.

The same rates and conditions were announced for Santa Fe Federal Savings and Loan Association by its vice president and manager, James E. Givens.

Smith said the action was in line with that taken by all major associations in the Los Angeles and San Diego areas.

At the same time Smith asserted that savings and loan associations have shown great gains during the last year.

"Coachella Valley Savings and Loan Association closed its books with the largest gain in its history, an increase of $10.5 million in one year, with net earnings of almost three quarters of a million dollars," Smith said.

I. C. Enger Funeral Conducted

TWENTYNINE PALMS — Funeral services were held Saturday for Irvine C. Enger who died last week at the Long Beach Veterans Hospital.

Enger, who was a veteran and pioneer homesteader, operated the Desert Ice and Cold Storage plant for more than nine years. He retired from the County Highway Department several years ago.

He had been a member of the American Legion since 1919 and was a commander of the local post. He was also past president of the Desert Corral 29 of the State Equestrian Trails Inc. Both he and his wife Eva, who survives him, were members of the 29 Palms Saddle Club and rode in many Pioneer Days here and in Palm Springs parades.

Today is Monday, Jan. 8, the 8th day of the year with 337 to follow in 1962.

On this day in history:

In 1815, General Andrew Jackson won the Battle of New Orleans killing some 700 British troops and wounding 1,400 more.

In 1867, Congress enacted legislation providing suffrage for Negroes in the District of Columbia.

In 1917, the U.S. Supreme Court upheld the Webb-Kenyon Act which prohibited the shipment of alcoholic beverages from "wet" to "dry" states.

In 1945, a Texas law requiring labor organizers to register before soliciting members was declared unconstitutional by the U.S. Supreme Court.

A thought for the day: American President Abraham Lincoln said: "Truth is the best vindication against slander."

Seeking Golf Cart, But Have Recovered 28 Keys

Palm Springs police are still looking for an electric golf cart that went thataway, but they've already recovered 28 keys.

Jessie Parnell, Deep Well Ranch official, told police his two - seat electric cart had been disconnected from a battery charger adjacent to his house sometime between 4:30 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. Sunday.

A large brown envelope on the back seat of the cart contained keys to most rooms in the hotel. Miscellaneous keys were wrapped in a sheet in the cart. The sheet-wrapped keys were found by Mrs. Frank Silverberg, 1085 Deep Well Road, who spotted the bundle while walking near Manzanita and Palomino Road.

Envelopes Back, Checks Missing

Rudy Salazar, 3732 E. Sunny Dunes Road, got back the envelopes he used to mail $135.12 worth of household checks Dec. 19. The checks were missing, though.

Salazar told police that the mail was apparently taken from his home mail box. The envelopes were found in bushes near his home.

Roof-Top Prowler Has Chink in His Prowess

A roof-top prowler who was reported Sunday in the yard of Ramon James Lewis, 812 Calle Paul, is no Tarzan.

Lewis told officers that a prowler has been in his yard frequently. Sometimes the prowler slinks around the yard; at other times he has prowled along the roof-tops and jumped fences going from yard to yard. The nocturnal nuisance usually operated when Mrs. Lewis was home alone.

Neighbors in the area have added complaints over the past eight months. Same method of operation, and a description of a man approximately six feet tall were reported.

The prowler apparently has a chink in his prowess, Lewis said. A ladder was left against the Lewis' backyard fence.

Appeal for Help Made By AFS

Would you like to invite a foreign exchange student to join your family for one year?

The Palm Springs chapter of the American Field Service is making an urgent appeal to desert families who would like a foreign exchange student to reside with them during the school year, beginning Sept. 1962.

This year, the Harpo Marx family has Julio Escarguel residing with it, and Dr. and Mrs. Norman Kerr are the Palm Springs parents for Antonia Caveada. Antonia comes from Italy and Julio from Argentina. Both students attend Palm Springs High School.

American Field Service is the largest secondary school-age program in the United States. The exchange students are boys and girls, 16-18 years of age, and must have a working knowledge of English before they are considered for selection.

They are chosen for qualities of character, leadership, personality and adaptability. The students live in homes as members of the family, with the same responsibilities and rights as other children of the family.

Palm Springs and desert families who are interested in obtaining more information about the AFS program may telephone Mrs. Win Miner, president of the Palm Springs chapter, or Mrs. O. Earl Coffman. Mrs. Coffman is in charge of home placement in the area for the exchange students.

Shells Meant Money; Feathers Were Jewels; Teeth Are Prized

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Today, they say, diamonds are a girl's best friend. But once it was feathers or shells, says an expert on the history of jewelry.

Even now, the most prized jewel among some peoples is not a many-carat chunk of white ice. In some parts of the Philippine Islands, for instance, the teeth of puppies are considered precious gems, says Charles Derby.

Derby is a gemologist—an expert on the history of stones as well as in judging their value. He is with the firm of Harry Winston, Inc., and I first heard about him when he narrated a display of ancient and modern jewels at the Brooklyn Museum.

In an interview, Derby talked at fascinating length about the history of gems—how feathers, for instance, were jewels to some tribes of American Indians. Some tribes also pierced sea shells which first served as a primitive dowry and then became "money" for bartering.

Coin Necklaces

Silver coins were hammered into necklaces during the era of Cortez, the Spanish explorer. Ancient Polynesians of the South Seas polished porpoise teeth into jewels for their queens.

Ivory, amber, turquoise, and coral were necklaces to the ancient Phoenicians. An amber was the most precious gem to some Oriental peoples at least 500 years B.C., said Derby.

Derby said that quartz fired to resemble turquoise—it was called faience—was made into necklaces by the ancient Egyptians. The Greeks before the Christian era mentioned diamonds as "adamant" (hence, the word adamant to indicate firmness). And Derby is among the gemologists who believe that Moses used a diamond to scratch the Ten Commandments on the stone tablets.

Jewelry, he said, is as much a part of ancient and modern civilization as crusades and wars. Scratch the history of any civilization and you'll find love of—and often greed for—precious stones.

"The Russians caused trouble then as they do now," said Derby. "Once, when one of the Czar's representatives was killed in ancient Persia, the Persian offer of appeasement was an 87-carat diamond."

Ex-Marauder

"Catherine the Great some 300 years ago had one of the most fabulous jewel collections on record. Her blue sapphire, the third largest in the world, is now in the Winston collection."

Derby, a native of Worcester, Mass., was graduated from the University of Massachusetts. His specialty was landscape gardening. He came out of school shortly before World War II, joined the Army and was one of the famous Merrill's Marauders of the China-Burma campaign.

It was while in Burma that he began developing a knowledge of gems, from visits to the displays in the ancient palaces and shrines. Since then, he has traveled in 37 countries to visit major jewel centers from Africa, South America and Asia to the market places in Europe and the United States.

Today, he said, the diamond has become the most universally accepted jewel of opulence. But to him, and to many other gemologists, the most "important" ones are the ruby, the emerald, the diamond, and the blue sapphire—in that order—provided that they are of top quality.

Fix Sandwiches Ahead of Time

Prepare a batch of sandwiches at one time and freeze them for use in lunchboxes later on. You could do a week's supply of sandwiches, and they would be ready for quick insertion into both father's and the children's lunchboxes. Take them from the freezer in the early morning, and they'll be ready to eat by lunch time. Remember that hard cooked egg white, raw vegetables and mayonnaise do not freeze well.

by Sue

We've come to the end of the holiday, and a new year has begun. Let's begin it by brushing up on our ABC's.

A is for age, which women don't do after 30.

B is for buttons . . . they bounce. They bounce almost anywhere except where you look for them when they fall off. They come in lots of colors . . . almost any color but the one you need.

C is for countdown, which is what mothers do when they say to the children . . . "I'll give you 10, 9, 8, 7 . . ."

D is for diapers which mothers always have to buy more of two weeks before the baby graduates to training pants.

E is for examinations that parents have to cram for so they can help their children study.

F is for the fiction that little leaguers confuse with fact when they're describing yesterday's game.

G is for giggle which women do because it is expected of them.

H is for household cleansers. You hear all about how wonderful they are on television. And they're almost instant . . . all you have to add is elbow grease and muscle.

I is for intuition which needs no explanation.

J is for jello. Did you ever try to unmold jello? I did . . . once.

Waistlines Moving Up This Spring

NEW YORK (UPI)—The high waistline silhouette for spring gets added supporters as more manufacturers preview their collections for the next fashion season.

Latest to join the ranks is Larry Aldrich, whose chief designer, Marie McCarthy, featured the above-the-normal waistline in both daytime and evening clothes. "The raised waistline in varying degrees is important for spring," said Aldrich as he showed his collection late Wednesday.

Wide Fabric Insets

Aldrich's designer defined the new waistline with wide insets of fabric through the midriff, with seaming or bands of fabric under the bosom, with jackets closing at the bust instead of at the waist, or with vertical darts sewn from the hem of brief jackets to shape them to the mid-section of the body.

Aldrich showed normal waistlines too—many of them belted tightly in black patent.

The Aldrich collection also added emphasis to the soft look which promises to take over by spring. Floating chiffons are replacing the stiffened sils of past seasons, the bias cut abounds in all pace-setting collections, and gathers, flares and pleats soften the harsher straight-lined silhouette of recent years.

Soft Suit Spring

"We predict it will be a soft suit spring," said Aldrich. Typical of the soft suits at this firm was a group whose skirts looked slim when the model stood still. But the skirts swung gracefully when the models walked because of all-around gathers at the waist, or flat-pressed pleats at the sides. Sleeveless chiffon blouse tops added to the soft look.

Chiffon was the predominant fabric at Rudolf Gowns, a firm specializing in cocktail and evening fashions. Sheath dresses in chiffon came with rippling cape backs. Several slender chiffon dresses had row on row of ruffles.

I understand puddings make lovely desserts.

K is for kids. Kids are great. Kids are greater when they have lollipops. Kids are greatest when they're sleeping.

L is for lipsticks. Lipsticks are luxuries and have a 10% excise tax to prove it. Women don't need lipsticks they won't get them.

M is for mice. Women are afraid of them. They are afraid they will come out when their husbands' are home and their husbands will know they never clean house.

N is for nearly . . . the hole-in-one you nearly made, and the fish your husband nearly caught.

O is for ogress that are very important to the raising of children.

P is for porridge which is very important at breakfast time. Tell the children you're going to serve them porridge and they'll be very happy to eat their cold cereal.

Q is for questions. The questions in question are the ones from the book titled, "Questions Without Answers for Children to Ask."

R is for ready which, if the truth be known, women get faster than men.

S is for slips that are always too long for the new short skirts. T is for typewriter. It's the typewriter's fault when you send the check for the phone bill to the electric company. (If you do it on purpose because you're short of funds, it's the budget's fault.)

U is for the underdog that women are always for, and it's for the unfair way your husband treats you when you bet on the underdog and win.

V is for vamp which your husband would like you to do to his boss when he wants a raise . . . but you had better not do otherwise.

W is for whisper. If you notice other women whispering about you it means you look good . . . too good.

X marks the spot made by the bleach you put on your husband's shirt to try and remove the scorch marks.

Y is for Yoga which is a good excuse for retiring to the corner on your head and ignoring the children.

Z is for zero . . . the amount of money you have in the bank when taxes are due.

Combine Meat And Asparagus In Main Dish

Many varieties of vegetables make good companions of meat in main dishes. They needn't always be served as a side dish.

Take flavorful asparagus as an example. You can tastily combine it with a number of meats: ham, sausage, ready-to-serve meats, veal and even lamb.

Here are a few suggestions offered by Reba Staggs, meat cookery expert, for teaming meat and asparagus. Put sliced asparagus in a casserole dish with leftover ham, luncheon meat, etc. Use asparagus as a garnish for roasts by arranging in bundles with red pimiento strips.

Roll slices of "boiled" ham around cooked fresh or frozen asparagus spears and fasten with a toothpick. Fry until lightly browned and serve with a cheese sauce.

Sausage and Asparagus Au Gratin is an excellent luncheon idea. Sausage links and asparagus spears alternate on toast slices and are topped with cheese sauce.

- Sausage and Asparagus Au Gratin
- 1 pound pork sausage links
 - 1 tablespoon water
 - 3 tablespoons butter of margarine
 - 3 tablespoons flour
 - 1 1/2 cups milk
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 - 3/4 cup grated sharp cheddar cheese
 - 1 package (10 ounces) frozen asparagus spears
 - 6 slices toast

Place sausage links and water in cold frying-pan. Cover tightly and cook slowly 5 minutes. Remove cover. Pour off drippings and brown links. Melt butter or margarine. Stir in flour and gradually add milk, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add salt, pepper and grated cheese. Stir until cheese melts. Cook frozen

SO PERFECT for Palm Springs is this summer dress which takes advantage of the return of the feminine look for 1962. It is of tucked Swiss batiste and garnished with rows of Swiss embroidery.

Agency Keeps Food Quality Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Cookbooks 200 years old helped Uncle Sam set the government standard for that jar of jam you buy at the grocery store.

Today, housewives take for granted that when they buy something labeled "strawberry preserves," it really is "strawberry preserves."

But this wasn't always the case. Government standards for fruit preserves, jellies and fruit butters have virtually eliminated from the market the type of product which used to masquerade under such names as "grape smash" or "raspberry spread."

Such products, once sold in large volume, were made from a little fruit and much water, pectin, sugar and artificial coloring.

When the government set up legal standards for these foods, cookbooks dating back 200 years were produced at public hearings to prove that pure jam is made of approximately equal weights of fruit and sugar. This requirement later was written into law.

These and other interesting facts are set forth in a new booklet put out by the Food and Drug Administration.

The pamphlet is entitled "What Consumers Should Know About Food Standards." It may be purchased for 20 cents by writing the U.S. Government Printing Office in Washington.

Cheddar cheese, for example, must contain at least 50 per cent milk fat and not more than 39 per cent moisture. This protects the consumer against paying cheese prices for excess water.

Foods meeting the standards of quality, the FDA says, should "look, smell and taste good" and contain the expected nutritional values.

Substandard quality canned vegetables are generally the more mature and less tender peas, beans, corn, etc. They may be as nutritious as the standard quality but they must be clearly labeled as "not high grade."

There are also legal yardsticks for "enriched" foods. If flour or meal labeled so do not contain the specified amounts of thiamine (vitamin B-1), riboflavin (vitamin B-2), niacin and iron, or if "margarine with added vitamin A" does not contain the required amount, the product is illegal and may be the subject of court action.

The pure food law also prohibits the shipment of "adulterated" products. The presence of any harmful or spoiled material is illegal. Adulteration includes all kinds of cheating in foods, such as adding starch to cocoa, substituting water for fruit juice, and leaving the vitamins out of "enriched" bread.

In addition, it isn't necessary for the government to prove that

Women Tops in Fire Lookout Jobs

By HEDRICK SMITH

DALTON, Ga. (UPI)—Put the little woman in a 7-by-7 foot cage, 65 feet up in the air, and most husbands would be willing to bet she would go stir crazy in 20 minutes.

But forest ranger Crawford Bramlett finds that women adjust better than men alone for hours in cramped quarters.

And the women he knows get along for 9 and 10 hours without coffee klatches, chatting on the phone or talking with neighbors over the back fence.

Seven years ago the Georgia

Forestry Service tried an experiment. They put a woman in a lookout tower—a tent-sized enclosure high on a steel frame—and told her to watch for forest fires.

The service was so impressed with the results that now there are six women fire-fighters in the wooded hill country of North Georgia.

The first woman to climb that steep, steel ladder to a Georgia fire tower was Mrs. Allen Crow, of Dalton. She took the job a bit hesitantly in 1954.

Mrs. Crow confessed it took her awhile to detect a real fire. Once she sent fire-fighters streaking to a farm where a truck was spreading lime and creating a cloud of dust that looked like smoke.

Another time, she thought she saw fire when sunshine followed sudden showers and a burst of fog and steam rose like smoke.

But now, Bramlett said, Mrs. Crow knows her area — ridges, mountains, valleys—"like a policeman knows his beat."

Bramlett said that women do better than men because they can pass the time better. Men get too restless.

Mrs. Crow has no fixed schedule but generally climbs into the tower about 9:30 a.m. after her children are off to school. In the dry season, she doesn't come down until nightfall.

Mrs. Crow said she prays regularly for rain. "Other folks laugh and say that I would drown everybody else if I had anything to do with the weather," she said.

Marine Is Snake Expert

Finds Desert Area Fine for Hobby Pursuit

TWENTYNINE PALMS — Marine Cpl. Robert M. Miller of "B" Battery, Second Light Anti-aircraft Missile Battalion, a fire controlman, has an active interest in snakes, the sight of which causes most people to instantly shy away in haste.

According to the Marine, he has been interested in herpetology, a branch of zoology devoted to reptiles and amphibians, since the age of ten. In high school, Miller took two years of advanced biology and after entering the Marines, he completed a correspondence course on the same subject.

Since his arrival in the Twentynine Palms area, Miller has caged various species of reptiles, at one time having 33 enclosed in his pens.

Reptiles Nocturnal
Bob's chance to start collecting reptiles came upon his joining this Base in December of 1958, recalled the fire controlman. While serving with the provost marshal section on the town patrol, many snakes were found crossing roads during the hours of darkness. Most desert reptiles are nocturnal by nature, meaning active by night, Miller explained.

With aid from members of the local Sheriff Department, who would receive calls for snake disposing and in turn call on the Marine patrolman, he would add to his collection and at the same time, serve the community at large.

Missileman Miller disclosed during an interview, a fact not commonly known — that the United States has its own native Boa Constrictor, usually associated with the python found in Central and South America, noted for their size and crushing powers. The American Boa is called "The California Rosy Boa" and not many exist.

Rosy the Boa
Rosy, the Boa, is found only in one area in the United States and just a short distance from here. Whitewater Canyon, located north of highway 60 between Banning and Morongo, is its habitat. According to Miller, they also must be hunted at night, as they stay underground during the hot sun of the day.

Three California Rosy Boas, in four trips, were caught in Bob and a former Marine buddy and placed in pens. His buddy kept one upon his release from active duty and one was returned to mother nature. Rosy number three died of poisoning after killing a rattlesnake and trying to devour the carcass of his catch.

Miller feeds his "pets" such foods as lizards, birds, mice, and other raw and spoiled meats such as chicken heads.

Need Little Food
For safety in his snake handling, he "milks" them for their venom

SNAKE EXPERT Robert M. Miller looks up an item in his reference library on the reptile. He is an experienced herpetologist.

every 24 hours. He must force-feed his charges to help their growth. Snakes require very little food, continued the desert Marine. There is a report of a snake, a captive at the San Diego Zoo, which lived for 22 years while consuming only water. Their water intake is not from collected waters, but from moisture found in dew on grasses and the food it eats.

As a matter of interest, force-feeding is accomplished by antagonizing the serpent with a tennis ball to force its mouth open without injury and then inserting the food far enough down so that the snake can not eject the morsel.

Cpl. Miller has not turned his hobby into profit, although many do, he commented. Hides or skins are used for hat bands and belts; the meat is served as a food delicacy, fangs or teeth are found in jewelry departments, and the venom is used medically for serum and research.

During the local valley Scout-O-Rama held at the Twentynine Palms School in 1960, Miller displayed some of his "friends" and for another side line, he accompanies Base Scouts on their camp-outs and hikes.

Teen-Agers Wary of Credit Card Freedom

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Even some teen-agers aren't sure that their own charge accounts are the thing to have.

University of Massachusetts Extension people recently interviewed 52 girls and their parents in nine cities.

These researchers found that only one out of three girls felt that a charge account would be a valuable experience in learning to handle money. Another third said "it depends" on an individual's judgment and on her willingness to accept the responsibility.

The rest thought parental concern should be necessary. Parents, apparently thinking of bills they might have to pay, were even more cautious. Their reasons were several. A teen-ager lacks the ability to decide what she needs and what's a luxury. Credit doesn't teach a child to save before buying. It's bad to start the credit habit too early. And, parents should take care of teen-agers' needs.

Big Parade to Feature Famed Date Festival

INDIO — A parade as big as the celebrated Rose Bowl Parade will take place here Thursday, Feb. 22.

This is the traditional Washington's Birthday parade for the Riverside County Fair and National Date Festival in Indio, Feb. 16-25. Participants will total at least 5,000.

Claude Polley of Indio, chairman of the gigantic affair, states this year's participation will top the 35 bands, 32 unit displays and 20 floats of the 1961 festival. The parade is invitational, with choice entries from all over the country.

HEALTH WORKERS

NEW YORK (UPI) — About 2.5 million persons, one of every 30 persons employed in the United States, work at maintaining the nation's health. Within the past decade, the health field has risen from seventh to third place among the major U.S. industries in terms of number of persons employed, according to the Health Information Foundation.

Queen Scheherazade and court, rulers of the Festival, camels, elephants and other festival stars will take part, with 27 classes of competition listed to comprise 10 huge sections of bands, floats, novelties and specialties, and mounted classes including Spanish, Western and Arabian costumes.

Some of the most superb horsemen in the West will ride, among them champions of the National Horse Show at the Festival.

The 135-member Long Beach Junior Concert Band will take part. This multi-sweepstakes winner has been asked to the World Music Festival in Kerkade, Holland in 1962.

Antique cars worth $80,000 will be in the lineup. The Travel Tramps of Salt Lake City will perform gymnastics on the trampoline on the move.

Mayor Frank Bogert of Palm Springs, popular noted outdoorsman, will ride.

The Colorful Coachella Valley sheriff's posse, originators of the annual parade, will patrol the long line.

Comes Now Controls on Potatoes?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The National Potato Advisory Committee Friday recommended a national marketing order to control prices to potato producers and acreage allotments to control production.

The proposed government controls would not involve price supports.

The proposed marketing order would be designed to stabilize prices to producers and insure fair and reasonable prices to consumers.

The committee which met here Jan. 3-5, was composed largely of producers and others representing all segments of the industry.

It was selected by Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman to advise him relative to legislative and administrative action to help get the potato industry out of the price doldrums.

The committee resolved that 1962 would not be used in computing any proposed acreage base for producers.

STEWART J. BINGHAM, a 17-year veteran with the W. P. Fuller Company, is the new manager of the Palm Springs branch of the firm. During the past seven years, Bingham has been manager of the Temple City branch, where he was active in civic affairs. He is married and has two sons, Donald of Arcadia and Kenneth a senior at Palm Springs High School. The family lives in their home at 325 Francis Drive.

Major Projects Built to Meet Area Electric Need

Two major projects, built at a total cost of $187,000 to meet increasing demands for electricity and to improve service, are being completed in the desert area by California Electric Power Company, according to F. F. Crocker, manager of the company's Palm Springs district.

At Desert Hot Springs, an improved electric distribution system, built at a cost of $133,000, was being put into service this week.

At Palm Springs, a $54,000 transformer project which will boost the capacity of the Palm Canyon substation, will be completed about the first of the year, Crocker said.

The distribution system in Desert Hot Springs, which has been under construction since June 1, has been boosted from 4,000 to 12,000 volts. The cutovers from the old to new systems were scheduled throughout this week. Customers in the area were notified by Cal Electric of the exact times of power interruptions so that they could make necessary arrangements.

When cutovers such as this is made, they are done in small segments in order that no large area will be inconvenienced with power interruptions at any one time, Crocker said.

Vets Urge Care

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American Veterans Committee Friday cautioned against permitting military officers to pass their "individual ideas or prejudices" to their troops.

The group told the Senate special preparedness subcommittee that this could "jeopardize our traditional 160-year-old civilian control of the armed forces."

"TOGETHER WE ORGANIZE" theme is endorsed by Norman Davis, seated, chairman of the Riverside County Board of Supervisors, honorary chairman of the program for scout troops. From the left are Scout Jim Ruth; Roy Stanton, chairman of the Riverside County Boy Scout Council; Norman Davis; and Cub Scout Norman Lawler.

Dear Art:

We thought you would like to know how well our ads in the Desert Sun are pulling for Alexander Construction Company's Racquet Club Road Estates.

Charles Snyder, sales manager, reports lots of traffic through the new model home at 2792 Avenida Caballeros with mounting sales resulting. In fact, the model itself was sold, forcing us to furnish another beautiful new home at 2745 Kittyhawk Drive.

Alexander Construction Company has become Palm Springs' largest builder of fine homes through giving superior values and convenient financing, backed by aggressive advertising such as we are now running in The Desert Sun.

Very truly yours,

It Has Been a Long Campaign

After years of agitation and repeated appeals to the state for improvement and widening of the wholly inadequate Highway 111 between Palm Springs and Indio, something definite finally has evolved.

At least, we have the word of Gov. Brown that the California Highway Commission is much concerned about the deficiencies of the present highway and that plans for its early improvement are now in the making.

Highway 111 which traverses the rapidly growing Desert Empire with its booming communities, has long been hard put to handle the ever-increasing flow of traffic. Two lanes most of its length between this city and Indio and with several sharp curves, it has more often than not been overcrowded and the cause of many accidents.

If ever a highway needed four lanes — two either way — it is this stretch of Highway 111 for it handles two sharply distinct classes of traffic. It is the main thoroughfare for those who have business to attend to and want to move right along. And it also is the favorite road for our visitors who come to see the sights of the desert and naturally drive slowly in order not to miss anything.

As a result, it is a frustrating experience for those with appointments to keep or who have to be on the job at a specified hour. It doesn't help for the latter to take the probable delays into consideration and start earlier, for the traffic jams are unpredictable. They are either bad or worse.

Rendered impatient by the understandingly leisurely pace of the sight-seers many a driver, even at a normal rate of speed, has taken a chance in passing — and another accident has been recorded. The two-lane highway is not, and has not for a long time, been sufficient.

But remedial action in the past years, has run into many obstacles, fruitless talk of a freeway, changes in routing, other delays.

Now, however, indications are that the long years of waiting and vain appeals for action, are nearing an end.

Gov. Brown, replying to a letter from S. G. Vanier, manager of the Indian Wells Property Owners Association, declared that the state contemplates the improvement of the highway to a conventional four-lane thoroughfare from San Rafael Road at the northern end of the city, all the way to Miles Avenue in Indio.

He declared that the current Highway 111 widening project from San Rafael northward to the present end of the four-lane highway from Whitewater Point, for which the contract has been awarded, is the first step in the over-all plans for improvement all of the way to Indio.

The governor has also declared that proposals for a freeway are still under study but that this project is still far in the future. In the meantime, he believes, that the widening of the present highway, following practically the same route as at present, will alleviate present deficiencies.

And in this, the governor is right. With a cut-over connection between Palm Canyon Drive and Indian Avenue at the north end of the city, completion of the project will mean a four-lane thoroughfare the entire length, eliminate the downtown bottleneck here and solve a problem that too long has been plaguing traffic.

The slower-moving sight-seers will not be pestered by honking horns (providing they stay in the right lane) and the busy driver will be able to keep his appointments.

It is said everything comes to those who wait. That seems true again — and we have waited a long, long time.

Let's Have a No-Week Week

Have you cooked up a lamb? How's that cold-tried to break it up? Feel short of cash and thus fail to take advantage of the cheaper, large, economy size package? Do you adhere to the belief that the pun is the lowest form of wit?

Well you should have noted these things.

There are 365 days, 52 weeks, 12 months in the year. In that time we are urged to cram observance of hundreds of special days, scores of weeks and many, many times 12 special months, by various organizations.

January, for instance, is Cook Up a Lamb Feast Month. Break-a-Cold Month, plus many others, some worth-while such as the New March of Dimes, United Cerebral Palsy Month and others like that which call attention to a laudable health drive.

And this is also Save the Pun week sponsored by the Society for the Revival and Preservation of the Pun, as well as Large Economy Size Week.

Another gustatory observance to go along with cooking up a lamb is National Kraut and Frankfurter Week coming at the end of the month. Hot Dog!

This month of January lists four special days, eleven special weeks and eight special months. And the list is not complete as some organizations thought it was Procrastination Week and did not get their notices to the compiler of special events to him in time.

There have been entire years set aside for special observances. Which prompts an idea. How about making 1962 a National Nothing Special Year? During which we will just pay attention to our own business.

At least, a No-Week-Week?

HOLMES ALEXANDER:

Katanga Presents a Puzzle

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Katanga like Massachusetts, the Hudson Bay area, the Commonwealth of India and dozens of other political entities that turned out pretty well, was established and defended by a business corporation—the Union Minière du Haut-Katanga Mine Syndicate.

You would expect Communists and Lunatic Leftists to be against business enterprise, but it's hard to see why the heirs to great fortunes, like the Kennedys, Harrisons and Rockefellers, or the beneficiaries of large foundations, like Secretary of State Rusk, or former corporation attorneys for huge foreign cartels, like Under Secretary of State Ball, would not see many virtues in a republican form of government which is closely tied to business. The Katangan government produces payrolls, profits and tax revenues, along with more than half of the free world's uranium and almost three-fourths of the entire world's cobalt.

It takes wealth, as the USA well knows, to achieve the things we want friendly countries to have. Military security is one—and the Katangese have been able to pay for men and arms and to fight the 103-country UN force to a standstill. Luckily, as it seems, the President, out of his growing wisdom and experience, had a flash of historical insight in time to stop the onslaught and give Katanga a breathing spell.

U.S. Attitude a Puzzle
Public health and public education, which are essential to stable government, can come from the same mines that deliver the valuable minerals. Commerce thrives where government is strong and stable enough to protect it. Businessmen themselves thrive on the honesty of their trade and respectability of their homes. There are a host of reasons and a mountain of quotations and citations that could be marshaled to remind Americans that free enterprise and opinionated individualism are good things for any country—but why are such reminders necessary? How is it that we find our government officially supporting the Congo's attempt at a compulsory share-the-wealth unification with a province that demonstrably wants to do it alone?

Katanga is not only pro-capitalist, and pro-Western, but it is also pro-white. This third characteristic has given our liberals a terrible turn. It's been a long while since the White House, the Supreme Court and the majority leaders of Congress have seemed to be in this category. Our intellectuals don't know what to make of the unconventional thought that white folks aren't so bad and that they do deserve their own corner of the earth.

One of the dread possibilities held up as a consequence of Katanga survival is that Katanga, Rhodesia and South Africa might establish a stronghold on the African continent for the cultural and intellectual values of Western civilization. The argument is, in short, that we had better sacrifice Katanga, a Negro nation friendly to whites, rather than have Katanga survive and seek her natural allies.

Nobody so far has pointed out that Katanga's most natural and helpful ally would be the American Negro. In the USA, despite too many disorders, the white and Negro races get along remarkably well. Nowhere else on earth has the dominant race, the whites, shed their own blood in profusion upon the battlefields, to the aid that a minority race go free. Nowhere else on earth are more brains, money and good will at work to make it easier for the two very uncoincidental races to occupy the same country in peace. At first, things went too slowly, and then they went too fast. But racial relations in the USA, strained as they are by nature and made many times worse by agitators, are the best model that emerging Africans can find anywhere.

Katanga, like the colonies of '76 and the Confederacy of 1861, has attempted a secession from the central government, although the term has to be stretched very thin to cover the Congo, the USA in Lincoln's time and Great Britain in the splendid reign of George III. But neither in 1776 nor 1861 was the moral principle of secession proved or disproved. In both instances, the showdown was a trial by battle. Yet the best constitutional lawyers today will say that the Southern Confederacy probably had the law on its side in declaring the right to secede, and Katanga is probably in the same position.

It is only the One Worlders who are demanding one Congo — and that's no recommendation whatever.

NAILS ALSO FIGURE in another old simile. Reporters say the curmudgeon at the desk is "hard as nails."

If there ever was an overstatement, that's it. Every nail in my acquaintance is as pliable as putty.

I set the point at the spot I want it to enter the wood and whack the other end. And I've got the prettiest metal pretzel you'd ever want to see.

THEN YOU TAKE the honest man. People say that he is "straight as a string."

Did you ever lay a string on a table or a desk?

Then you know the answer to that one.

The result resembles a side-winder on a matutinal stroll. More curves than what's - her - name — Jayne.

CONSIDER THE WAY the boss applies the spurs to the gang when they don't feel like making with work. He used to simply snarl: "Come on, let's go."

Then that changed to "Let's get the show on the road!"

Now he comes in and sees the boys and the girls sitting around, reading the paper or manhandling their nails.

And he shouts: "Count down! Let's get off the pad!" Or, maybe, "Let's get into orbit!"

Seems to me that getting into orbit isn't smart either. You just go 'round and 'round.

Many phrases
Used right along.
Don't mean a thing
And are so wrong.

This trend of thought was set in motion the other day while reading a serious article on the world situation. The subject matter reminded me that many times daily we let go with an expression, a few words cemented together which, when you analyze them, don't make sense and are somewhat silly.

ANYWAY, this article quoted Bill Shakespeare's "uneasy lies the head that wears a crown." That one really does make a little sense as a good way to say a lot in a few words.

But, thinking it over, it's a bit on the silly side, too.

Why wouldn't the head wearing a crown lie uneasy? Anybody with any sense would take off the crown before going to bed. Unless, perhaps he had dallied too long and too well at the New Year's Eve party.

THAT STARTED ME thinking about some other clichés used every day. For instance, there was an erudite discussion here in the newsroom about a word and someone said:

"Sure, the English language is changing right along. It's alive. Not like Latin. Latin is dead as a door nail."

O.K. How dead is a door nail and why is it more defunct than any other kind of a nail? Besides, I've never seen a nail in a door except right after Christmas when the Little Monster tried out his new carpenter set.

THAT OLD SIMILE. Reporters say the curmudgeon at the desk is "hard as nails."

If there ever was an overstatement, that's it. Every nail in my acquaintance is as pliable as putty.

I set the point at the spot I want it to enter the wood and whack the other end. And I've got the prettiest metal pretzel you'd ever want to see.

Seems to me that getting into orbit isn't smart either. You just go 'round and 'round.

Dear Abby...

DEAR ABBY: My husband has worked for the government for almost four years and I have never set foot in his office. I have never even met his boss or seen any of the people he works with. He says that wives just don't go to their husbands' offices. I know lots of women who go to their husbands' offices all the time. I wouldn't make a pest of myself. I just want to see where he works and meet some of the people he works with. Why should a man's office life and home life be distinct and separate?

—SMALL COMPLAINT
DEAR SMALL: Some wives "do" visit their husbands' offices too frequently, but knowing how eager you are to see it, he should invite you to drop in for a few minutes. Don't nag him. Just mention it every time he's in a good mood.

DEAR ABBY: My brother-in-law (he is married to my sister) has a young brother that I like a lot. But he won't date me because he thinks we are "related." (I am 18 and he is 20.) My parents and everyone else tell me that we are "not" related in a way that would keep him from dating me, or even marrying me if he wanted to. Can you tell me if my parents are right? If they are, how can I convince him of it? —LIKES SOMEONE

DEAR LIKES: Your parents are right. If you have to "convince" him of a fact that is so obvious, forget him.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me how to refuse, without being rude, an invitation to be best man at a wedding. The circumstances are as follows: The man works in the same office with me. We are friendly, but far from close. I have never met any of his relatives personally, but I know that he has three brothers he could have asked. The girl he is marrying also has two grown brothers. Putting it bluntly, I would feel entirely out of place being the best man at this wedding and I wish he had never asked me. Thank you.

—FEELING TRAPPED
DEAR FEELING: Your friend obviously feels "closer" to you than you feel to him, but if you would feel "out of place," simply thank him for the honor and decline.

DEAR ABBY: What does a lady do when a gentleman, whom she prefers to call "Mr. Blank," says, "Please call me George?"

We work in a very informal office and I must address him frequently, but I do not care to be on a first-name basis with him. He started to call me "Grace" right off the bat, and I thought if I called him "Mr. Blank" he would catch on, but it hasn't worked out that way. He keeps asking me to call him "George."

How can I put a stop to his familiarity without making an enemy of him? GRACE (ugh!)
DEAR GRACE: You can't. He is probably only trying to be friendly. Be a little more "graceful" and perhaps, in time, it will be "George."

DEAR ABBY: There is going to be a wedding in our family. It is not going to be anything fancy because the bride's family (our side) does not have much money, to work with. The groom's side has plenty of money, but nobody on his side spoke up and offered to help out so the young people could have a big beautiful wedding to remember. We have been having a big argument over whether it would be all right for the groom's people to help out in a case like this. I don't see why they shouldn't. The bride's parents say they wouldn't accept help from the boy's parents if they offered it. Who is right? —BRIDE'S AUNT

DEAR AUNT: The bride's parents are right. The wedding is the responsibility of the bride's family. They should put on a wedding in keeping with their pocketbook. I admire them for it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "Over 21" Your husband is next to being the biggest fool in the world. But if you let him get away with it—you're the biggest.

BOB CONSIDINE:

Royal Edict for 1962 Would Ban Many Things

If I were king and could decree a design for living in 1962, this rambling edict would I hand down:

For one year, all nations must live in a peace so absolute that not one cent is spent on the methods and means of killing or on the equally expensive enterprise of status-seeking.

The money saved would be turned over to the alleviation of hunger and disease. It would come to a most fantastic amount. For example: the U.S. will spend $10,000,000 a day for the next 10 years in the hope of sending a man to the moon before the Soviet Union does.

For one year, let all men re-examine the things that divide the species — color, creed, position, race, prejudice, fear—and try to understand the problems of one another.

Not enough emphasis is placed on a simple and generally overlooked fact: that we are all made in the image and likeness of God. For one year, let no man take advantage of another, covet, envy, hate.

Crack Down on Horns
I hereby legislate against motorists who punch their horns behind you 1,000th of a second after the light turns green.

Let us be done with hosts or hostesses who hover over your empty glass and foolishly inquire, "How about a dividend?"

Begone with TV and radio commercials that are five times louder than the programs they interrupt.

Off with the heads of Hollywood producers who are reaping fortunes out of pictures which can only contribute to the delinquency of our youth, the downgrading of their morals.

The guillotine for the first man who, upon seeing an acquaintance after a period of separation, says "Long time no see."

The rack for the first dame who who isn't honest enough to tell her age.

I'm for making it a capital punishment for all children who do not read a dozen books a year.

The Twist shall be declared subversive, and all our popular young singers who records sell more than a million copies must report by Jan. 6 to the nearest clinic to have their adenoids removed.

Hereafter on TV no western hero will be permitted to fire more than six shots without reloading.

Right Between the Eyes

Periodically, some of the stuffier heroes shall be plugged right between the eyes and eliminated from their scripts. After all, the law of averages must take care of the marksmanship of the body guys. They can't all be lousy shots.

Car manufacturers, in their ads, shall be required to explain how they got the '62 model onto that beach, or into that forest glen, since no available road maps show access to the places where these beauties are photographed.

Airlines must charge extra fare for the bum in the seat ahead of you who plunges his backrest and himself into your allotted space just as you are about to take a sip of hot coffee. Since he is using not only his own space but three-quarters of yours, he surely won't object to the additional tariff.

Bartenders who say to you "the same, I suppose?" when you step up to the bar with your boss with a great show of sobriety shall be shot at dawn without trial.

Finally, I would direct all the brains of medicine, science and the arts to collaborate on a research program that would save mankind billions of dollars a year and result in elimination of countless millions of lost manhours of work: the cure of the common cold.

Letter to the Editor...

The Editor
Desert Sun
Sir:

I was interested in reading the editorial in Wednesday's Desert Sun regarding the possibilities of inviting the Eastern team for the Rose Bowl game to train in Palm Springs.

Some seven years ago we did invite the eastern team and then the year after that again we extended an invitation. We failed to even receive an acknowledgment of our telegrams.

Five years ago we again followed through on that occasion we received back correspondence which pointed out that as part of their contract with the Rose Bowl and the Pacific Coast Conference, they were required to train within a 25-mile radius of Pasadena, the idea being of course they were more convenient to television, radio, sports writers, motion picture studios, etc.

Apparently the bowl promoters felt the game would suffer from a publicity standpoint if the team was 100 miles away from the site.

The next year, when the University of Oregon was the West Coast team our good chief of police, Gus Kettmann, who was a personal friend of Len Casanova, the Oregon coach, worked together with the Chamber of Commerce to bring that team down. At that point we found out the same conditions were part of the home team contract, so we were again stymied.

I feel sure that victory would be assured to a team that would train here. The wonderful weather, the relaxed, serene atmosphere couldn't help but put a team in first class condition, both physically and mentally, to ride rough-shod over any opponent. You see, I've just got to get in the plug for Palm Springs.

Sincerely,
JIMMY COOPER,
Manager

The following Letter to Santa Claus from a Grown-Up Child was written by Capt. Moffitt of the California Highway Patrol and submitted to The Desert Sun as a Letter to the Editor for forwarding to Saint Nick by Coryne Davidson.

Dear Santa:

It has been a long, long time since I have written to you. I have now moved, from the old home on Happy Street to a house of loneliness and doubt at the end of Disillusion Avenue. All of the gloriously bright little baubles that I had in years gone by are now either broken, or tarnished and tear stained.

Please bring me a few of those precious joys that I once had. The shining bubbles of Joy, the tinkling bells of Cheer that rang in my voice; the frankincense and myrrh of steadfast Hope that strengthened my soul, and the lodestar of Universal Love that gleamed in my heart. In the years past, I realize now, I did not appreciate those priceless treasures, or care for them as I should have. But now I repent my carelessness, and humbly ask you to remember me with a fresh supply this Christmas. I will hang my empty heart right by the chimney and please Santa this is what I want.

Give me a large basket of Forgetfulness, with which to cover up all bitterness and useless brooding; a large box of Forgiveness for those who robbed me of laughter and filled my eyes with tears; leave me enough of the cement of Hope to mend the shattered fragments of joy; tuck in a little song of Cheer. And please, Santa, leave quite a lot of plain, old fashioned Faith, Understanding, Unselfishness and Tolerance, that I can share freely with my neighbors.

Sincerely and thankfully,
A Grown Up Child

CALLING ALL FIREFLIES

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — Wanted: 9,200 fireflies.

The federal government will need them for one of its exhibits in the Federal Science Pavilion at the Seattle World's Fair, opening April 21, 1962.

The exhibit will show how a firefly lights up by combining three chemicals. Dr. Lloyd M. Beidler, science coordinator for the pavilion, says the exhibit will use about 50 fireflies a day.

With the Fair on for 184 days, that creates a need for 9,200 fireflies.

BOB GOALBY, defending champion, fell two strokes off the pace Sunday after leading at the halfway mark. Here he makes the turf fly as he hits out of the rough on the 13th fairway in the Los Angeles Open at Rancho Golf Course.

Hawkins, Rodgers Tied For Lead in L A Open

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Two of the most unlikely longshots in the world of golf, tall Fred Hawkins and short Phil Rodgers, went into the fourth round of the $45,000 Los Angeles Open golf tournament today leading the star-studded pack.

Hawkins, who has been on the pro tour for 15 years and won only one tournament, is 38 years old, soft-spoken to the point of bashfulness.

Rodgers, 23, just out of the Marines, has been touring just six months and is as cocky as they come.

They are seven under par with 54-hole scores of 206 after firing fine 68s Sunday. That gave them a one-stroke lead over former PGA champion Lionel Hebert, Lafayette, La., and two over defending champion Bob Goalby, Crystal River, Fla., who had been the leader at the halfway mark.

"I was lucky to get my 68," said Hawkins. "I've lost my timing on my tee shots. But sinking a couple of 25-foot putts helped."

Said the confident Rodgers: "I hit some tremendous irons. It was a great round."

The shy Hawkins, one of the most popular men on the tour, is no popper despite his record of being a non-winner. In fact, he is the 18th leading money winner of all time, right behind Jimmy Demaret in the standings with $153,518 to his credit, going back to 1947.

Tony Lema, the youngster from San Leandro, Calif., who had started Sunday's round only one shot off the lead, finished with a 73 for 209.

Still in a good position to win the $7,500 first prize, all tied at 210, were: Mike Souchak, Grossinger, N.Y.; Julius Boros, Mid Pines, N.C.; Bob Nicholas, Midland, Tex.; Jackie Burke, Houston, Tex.; Tommy Jacobs, Bermuda Dunes, Calif.; and Doug Sanders, Ojai, Calif.

Far back in the field were the big money winners of 1961, Arnold Palmer with 214 and Gary Player with 217.

GONZALES TO PLAY

Large Entry List in Racquet Club Tourney

The final event of the 12th Annual Blue Ribbon Tennis Tournament at the Racquet Club this weekend will be an exhibition match between Pancho Gonzales and Hugh Stewart.

Gonzales is the world's professional tennis champion and Stewart, a former member of the Davis Cup team, has just accepted a post in Indonesia where he will train the Junior Olympic tennis team.

One of the largest groups of Southern California tennis players ever meeting for the Blue Ribbon Tournament will begin playing early Saturday morning, January 13, according to Racquet Club tennis hostess, Julianna Copeland.

Acceptances have been received from Mike Franks, former member of the Davis Cup team and the first American tennis player invited for exhibition games in Russia; Vladimir Petrovic, also a former Davis cupper; Bob Mathias, Olympic decathlon champion and Hugh Stewart plus Mrs. Pancho Gonzales.

There will be a Championship and "A" Flight in both men's and mixed doubles.

Others entered in the two day event are: Allen Martini, Ed Kauder, Harvey Grimshaw, Dick Leach, Larry Young, Jim Bisch, Dr. E. H. Olson, John Eisen-drath, Al Linnick, Alex Deutsch, Bob Marx, Dr. B. H. Poliak, Austin Sellery, John Sisson, Fred Pons, and Sandy Rose.

Annual Hula Bowl Ends In 7-7 Tie

By GORDON SAKAMOTO

HONOLULU (UPI)—The cream of the nation's collegiate football players fought to a 7-7 tie in the 16th annual Hula Bowl game before 20,508 fans at Honolulu Stadium Sunday and afterwards all they had to talk about was mud.

An early morning downpour put a damper on not only the aerial attack of the East All-Stars of Joe Kuharich and West All-Stars of Billy Barnes, but made it equally tough for the runners as well.

Except for a straight-ahead 72-yard touchdown run by Ohio State's Bob Ferguson of the East, runners from both squads had their share of trouble cutting the corners and even slipped and fell on up-the-middle plays.

Pulling linemen more than once fell in the soggy turf while trying to protect passers or block for runners.

Next to the Ohio State bull, Heisman Trophy winner Ernie Davis of Syracuse, also of the East, had the next two longest runs, 20 and 12 yards, both coming in the second half.

For the underdog Westerners, Bobby Smith of UCLA, who turned in an outstanding performance offensively and defensively, had the longest rushing gain—eight yards.

Kansas Johnny Hadl, the East-West Shrine Game's outstanding back, passed to TCU's Buddy Iles, the San Francisco Shrine classic's top lineman, for the West's only score.

Tribe Play Tigers Next

With one Desert Valley League victory tucked under their belts, the Palm Springs Indians will be trying for two in a row tomorrow night when they journey to San Jacinto to tangle with the Tigers.

Coach George Hertzke will continue to go with his "big five" in hopes they can pick up where they left off Friday night when they took Indio into camp, 68-54, for their first league win.

He also hopes that "whiz kid" Tyron Taylor hasn't lost his touch or his shootin' eye and will be able to hit the hoop against the Tigers as he did when the Tribe battled the Indio courtment.

WILT HITS 55 Boston Celtics Beat LA Lakers, 118-95

By United Press International

Wilt Chamberlain can have his scoring records, the St. Louis Hawks will take the ball game instead.

Wilt hit on 23 of 41 shots from the field as well as making good on 9 of 17 free throws.

Reserve center Larry Foust, filling in for injured Clyde Lovellette, was outstanding for the Hawks with 28 points. Bob Pettit led the winners with 30.

Despite the loss of Bill Russell on fouls midway through the third quarter, the Boston Celtics beat the Los Angeles Lakers, 118-95, for their 32nd victory in 38 starts.

Tom Heinsohn netted 28 points for the Celtics and Sam Jones 20 to help offset a 31-point performance by Jerry West of the Lakers. The Cincinnati Royals throttled a fourth quarter rally by the Chicago Packers to beat them, 123-113, at Louisville.

The Syracuse Nationals defeated the New York Knickerbockers, 123-116, even with their star, Dolph Schayes, on the sidelines. Hal Greer and Lee Shaffer paced the Nats' offensive with 23 points apiece. Richie Guerin, playing with a strained back, scored 32 points for the Knicks.

West Beats East, 47-27 in First AFL All-Star Game

By RAYMOND C. MEANS

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — Four members of the Dallas Texans were primarily responsible for the West's 47-27 victory over the East in the first American Football League All-Star Game Sunday, according to West coach Sid Gillman.

They were quarterback Cotton Davidson, halfback Abner Haynes, middle linebacker Sherill Headrick and safetyman David Webster.

Davidson, voted the outstanding player of the game, replaced starting quarterback Jack Kemp of the San Diego Chargers in the second quarter and connected for 249 yards and three touchdowns.

"He came in when we were down and really moved our ball club," Gillman said. "He never looked better."

Haynes broke the game open early in the third quarter with an electrifying 66-yard punt return for a touchdown after taking a lateral from Dick Harris of

USC Coach Given Honor

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — University of Southern California's Raoul (Rod) Dedeaux today—for the second time in his life—held the award as the nation's top collegiate baseball coach.

Dedeaux, who directed the Trojans to their third national championship last June—the first time any team ever won three NCAA baseball titles—was named collegiate baseball coach of the year for 1961 in an announcement made here Saturday by the American Association of Baseball Coaches.

The gray-haired SC coach also won the honor in 1953.

He will be presented the Hanna Coach of the Year trophy at a banquet Wednesday night in Chicago.

Dedeaux has an over-all college coaching record of 395 wins and 175 losses for a .702 percentage. He joined the USC staff in 1942.
